Welcome to May's newsletter

GDPR Reminder

As you are all aware new rules are coming into force on 25th May regarding how a business can hold data. Having read lots of advice on the subject here is a link from the Information Commissioners Office of a good summary of what the new rules mean.

You will soon receive an email from us with a consent link which we ask that you please return so that we can continue to email you about the BID services. If you have any questions about this please contact us below.
